

What does your child understand from more and less social stories?

Participate in a research study!

Interested in participating?: <https://bit.ly/MLSCProject>

The purpose of this study is to learn more about how children's abilities impacts their understanding of different types of stories.

- Who? 9- to 12-year-olds who are autistic/ children who have autism spectrum disorder (ASD), speak English, and use phrase-level verbal communication.
- What? You (the parent/guardian) will fill out forms about your child's development. Your child will listen to stories and complete assessments of their language, social communication and nonverbal cognition.
- How? Complete two in-person sessions (2.5 hours each; 5 hours total) at the time and location of your convenience.
- When? After school and weekend participation times available.
- Risks/Benefits? There are no risks or discomforts anticipated. There are minimal direct benefits to you (a report upon your request) and others.
- Compensation? Participants receive a small prize after each session and families receive hourly compensation ($20/hr) for each visit completed ($40-$100) and optional report.

Contact Info: call_lab@ku.edu (PI: Meghan Davidson), More or Less Social Comprehension (MLSC) Project